

The 4th Bri-es International Conference takes place in the heart of Friuli Venezia Giulia. This North-Eastern Italian region has been a crossway of cultures and languages throughout the centuries and each of them has left a tangible sign and has contributed to a mutual enrichment.

Inspired by this tradition and along with its main purpose of bridging industry and education, the 4th Bri-es international conference will also provide examples of good practice with focus on how this strategic partnership can be shaped in different ways according to the specifics of different educational systems and different approaches to work-based experiences.

Education professionals and industry representatives will have a chance to focus on the key competences that should be developed through internships. At the same time, students will be engaged in problem-solving activities which will require not only technical knowledge and skills, but also social competences such as communication and teamwork. The results of their work will be presented to the public in the final part of the conference.
